

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

The present invention provides methods of wet processing electronic components having surfaces containing tantalum. In the methods of the present invention, tantalum-containing electronic components are contacted with a tantalum processing fluid comprising a tantalum oxidizing solution containing an oxidizing agent and a fluorine ion producing agent.